Subject: Your website — quick note from a McAllen neighbor

Hi,

I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios — we're a digital marketing agency right here in the Rio Grande Valley, and we work specifically with RGV manufacturers.

I came across Valley Die Castings while researching the local manufacturing landscape, and I wanted to be candid: your website at valleydiecast.com was built in an era that predates smartphones, and it's likely costing you real business opportunities every month. Procurement managers and supply chain directors research online before they ever pick up the phone — and right now, your 34-year track record, ISO certification, and zinc/aluminum die casting capabilities are nearly invisible to them.

We've helped manufacturers in this exact situation go from zero digital presence to generating consistent inbound RFQ leads — without a massive budget or a complete operational overhaul.

I'd love to share what a basic 60-day fix would look like for Valley Die Castings specifically. No pitch, no pressure — just a straightforward look at what's possible.

Would a quick 20-minute call this week or next work for you?

#2 | Ben Carpenter, VP of Operations | galvotec.com

Subject: Galvotec's website vs. your competitors — worth a look

Hi Ben,

I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency based in the Rio Grande Valley that works exclusively with manufacturers.

Galvotec has an impressive story — family owned since 1984, leading anode manufacturer in the U.S., clients like Shell and Exxon. That track record is extraordinary. But your website is a static HTML site built around 2003, with no mobile layout, no content strategy, and no way for a buyer searching 'sacrificial anode manufacturer Texas' to find you.

Your competitors are investing in SEO and content. The gap between what Galvotec has earned operationally and what its website communicates to a new buyer is a significant missed opportunity — especially as nearshoring drives more industrial procurement online.

We work with manufacturers specifically because we understand the B2B buying cycle and what procurement teams actually look for. I'd like to show you a quick audit of what a modernized Galvotec web presence could look like.

Happy to keep it to 20 minutes. Would any time this week work?

Subject: Your customers are searching Google and not finding you

Hi,

I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the Rio Grande Valley that works specifically with RGV manufacturers.

I came across Amaida Machine Shop through STMA and noticed something that's almost certainly costing you business: you have no website. In 2026, that means any procurement manager or engineer searching for a machine shop in the McAllen area simply cannot find you — no matter how good your work or how strong your word-of-mouth is.

We've built websites and lead generation systems for RGV manufacturers from scratch — getting them found on Google, listed in industrial directories, and generating inbound RFQ leads within 60–90 days. It doesn't require a massive investment, and the ROI for a quality machine shop with real capacity is significant.

I'd love to have a quick conversation about what a simple, professional web presence could do for Amaida. Would a 20-minute call this week work?

Subject: Quick question about Nu-Co Tool's online presence

Hi,

I'm with Maker Web Studios, a Rio Grande Valley digital marketing agency that works exclusively with local manufacturers.

I found Nu-Co Tool through STMA and noticed you don't currently have a public website or online presence. I know referrals and relationships drive a lot of business in the tooling space — but increasingly, procurement teams are verifying suppliers online before they ever make contact. If they can't find you, they often move on.

We help RGV manufacturers establish a professional digital footprint quickly and affordably — website, Google Business Profile, directory listings — the things that make you findable and credible to a buyer who doesn't already know your name.
I'd love to share what that could look like for Nu-Co specifically. Would a short call work this week?

Subject: Precision grinding searches in the RGV — are you showing up?
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works specifically with manufacturers like yours.
I came across Sauceda's Precision Grinding through STMA — impressive niche, and a service that's genuinely hard to find in this region. That's exactly why not having a website is leaving real money on the table. Buyers searching 'precision grinding McAllen Texas' or 'surface grinding RGV' right now are finding your competitors, not you.
We help RGV manufacturers get found online quickly — a clean professional site, Google Business Profile, and the right keyword targeting to attract the kind of buyers who are already looking for what you do.
Would a quick 20-minute call this week make sense? Happy to show you exactly what we'd do for Sauceda's specifically.

Subject: Fansteel Intercast — your digital footprint
Hi,
I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency based in the Rio Grande Valley that works exclusively with manufacturers.
Fansteel Intercast came up in my research of the RGV industrial landscape. You're an established casting operation with real capabilities, but right now the only evidence of that online is a basic STMA member listing. For buyers who are sourcing casting suppliers and researching online — which nearly all of them do before making contact — you're effectively invisible.
We help manufacturers in this exact position go from invisible to discoverable in 60–90 days: a professional website, optimized for the keywords your buyers are actually searching, with a clear path to contact you.
Would a quick 20-minute call make sense to explore what that would look like for Fansteel?

Subject: New STMA member — let's get you found online
Hi,
Congrats on the recent STMA membership — I'm with Maker Web Studios, and we work with RGV manufacturers on digital presence and lead generation.
I noticed ProSource Industrial Manufacturing is a new member, which tells me you're invested in building visibility and industry connections in the region. The natural next step is a professional web presence that puts you in front of buyers who are searching Google for exactly what you do — not just people who happen to be at the same STMA events.
We specialize in getting manufacturers found online quickly and affordably — website, SEO, Google Business Profile, directory listings. Given you're early in building your market presence, the timing is ideal.
Would a short call this week make sense? I'd love to learn more about ProSource and show you what we'd build.

Subject: Priority Tooling — buyers are searching, can they find you?
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works specifically with manufacturers.
I came across Priority Tooling Systems through STMA. Tooling is a specialty where capability and precision really matter to buyers — which makes it especially important that when they search for tooling suppliers in South Texas, your name comes up with a professional, credible presence behind it.

Right now, Priority Tooling has no standalone website, which means search traffic is going entirely to your competitors.
We've helped tooling and machining shops in the RGV go from invisible to ranking in 60–90 days.
I'd love to show you specifically what we'd do for Priority Tooling. Could we connect for 20 minutes this week?

Subject: Ornelas Industries — let's build your digital foundation right
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency here in the RGV that works exclusively with manufacturers.
Congratulations on joining STMA — I came across Ornelas Industries as a new member.
Starting without a website is actually an advantage in one key way: we can build your digital presence the right way from day one — no bad habits to undo, no outdated design to overcome. A properly built site from the start means you start ranking, converting, and building credibility immediately rather than playing catch-up.
We work with manufacturers specifically because the B2B buying cycle in this space has real nuances, and generic marketing agencies rarely get it right. I'd love to have a short conversation about what we'd build for Ornelas.
Would a 20-minute call this week work?

Subject: Valley Packaging — a quick note on your digital presence
Hi,
I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios, a RGV-based digital marketing agency that works with manufacturers.
I came across Valley Packaging through STMA. Packaging and bag manufacturing is a competitive space, and buyers sourcing packaging in South Texas are doing their research online before they call anyone. Right now, a standalone web presence for Valley Packaging doesn't exist — which means that research is leading them to your competitors.
We help manufacturers build the kind of web presence that earns trust and generates inbound inquiries — clean site, clear capabilities, found by the right buyers. The RGV is a growing market and the timing is right.
Would a short call this week make sense to discuss what we'd do for Valley Packaging?

Subject: Sigosa Steel — are your buyers finding you online?
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works specifically with manufacturers.
Sigosa Steel came up in my research of local steel and metal forming operations. You're an STMA member, which tells me you're serious about the industry — but right now there's no standalone web presence for Sigosa that a buyer could find, evaluate, and reach out through.
Steel stamping and forming buyers search Google. If they search 'metal stamping McAllen' or 'steel forming Rio Grande Valley' and you don't appear, that lead goes to a competitor. We fix that — quickly and specifically for manufacturers like yours.
I'd love to show you what we'd build for Sigosa. Could we connect for 20 minutes?

Subject: ITD Precision — a note on your digital footprint
Hi,
I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency that works exclusively with manufacturers.
I came across ITD Precision through STMA's member directory. Precision manufacturing is a category where buyers do serious online research before shortlisting suppliers — certifications, capabilities, process details, past work. Right now, there's no standalone ITD Precision web presence that could make that case for you.
We've helped precision machining and metal forming shops in the RGV go from zero digital presence to ranking for buyer keywords and generating inbound inquiries. It doesn't require a large budget — just the right strategy and execution.
Would a 20-minute call this week be worth your time? I'd love to learn more about ITD and show you what we'd build.

#13 | J. Humberto Rodriguez, Key Principal | exquisitatortillas.com

Subject: Exquisita's website — a quick observation

Hi Humberto,

I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works with food manufacturers and producers.

Exquisita Tortillas has a genuinely great brand story — 'Just Like Mama Makes,' 40+ years in Edinburg, real community roots. But your website hasn't been meaningfully updated since around 2018, and it's not built to rank, generate leads, or convert the wholesale buyers, distributors, and foodservice accounts you're likely trying to reach.

A targeted content strategy, updated site structure, and Google Business Profile optimization could meaningfully expand your B2B reach — beyond the RGV and into markets that don't yet know Exquisita exists.

I'd love to share a quick look at what we'd prioritize for Exquisita specifically. Would a 20-minute call work this week?

— Maker Web Studios | MakerWebStudios.com | hello@makerwebstudios.com

#14 | Owner / General Manager | winnuts.com

Subject: WinNuts — your website and the buyers you're missing

Hi,

I'm with Maker Web Studios, a Rio Grande Valley digital marketing agency working with food and agricultural manufacturers.

WinNuts came up in my research of RGV producers. You have a product in a growing category — nuts and specialty snacks — and a website that currently doesn't communicate your capabilities, target the right keywords, or give buyers a clear path to contact you.

Wholesale buyers, distributors, and food brokers research suppliers online. A thin, low-effort website tells them less than nothing — and often costs you the inquiry before you ever get a call.

We help food manufacturers build a web presence that works as hard as their product. I'd love to share what we'd do for WinNuts specifically — would a short call this week work?

— Maker Web Studios | MakerWebStudios.com | hello@makerwebstudios.com

#15 | Owner / General Manager | riogrande-pak.com

Subject: Rio Grande Pak Foods — website quick observation

Hi,

I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works specifically with food manufacturers and producers.

Rio Grande Pak Foods has a real business with real capabilities — but your current website is dated, thin on content, and not built to attract or convert the wholesale or foodservice buyers you're likely pursuing. There's no lead capture, no keyword strategy, and no content that would help a distributor or buyer understand what makes Rio Grande Pak the right choice.

We've helped food manufacturers in the RGV update their digital presence, rank for the right buyer searches, and start generating inbound inquiries. The investment is modest; the upside is compounding.

Would it make sense to connect for 20 minutes this week? I'd love to show you what we'd build.

#16 | Owner / General Manager | metalprocessingintl.com

Subject: Metal Processing International — your website vs. your competitors

Hi,

I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works specifically with manufacturers.

I looked at Metal Processing International's website — and while it's functional, it's text-heavy, visually dated, and not optimized for the buyers who are searching for metal processing and plating services in South Texas. Your competitors are investing in content and SEO. Right now, that gap is costing you search visibility and inbound leads.

We help manufacturers modernize their digital presence and rank for the buyer keywords that actually drive RFQ inquiries. I'd love to share a quick look at what we'd prioritize for MPI specifically.

Would a 20-minute call work this week?

#17 | Owner / General Manager | aztecamilling.com

Subject: Azteca Milling — a quick note on digital presence

Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency that works with food manufacturers and processors.
Azteca Milling is an established operation — milling and grain processing is a specialized business that requires real expertise. But your website is bare-bones: no blog, no content marketing, no SEO targeting, no lead generation infrastructure. For a business that serves B2B buyers — processors, distributors, food manufacturers — that's a significant missed opportunity.
We build web presences for food manufacturers that attract the right buyers at the right time. I'd love to show you what a focused 90-day strategy could do for Azteca Milling.

Subject: Composite Access Products — website and lead gen
Hi,
I'm reaching out from Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency working with manufacturers.
Composite Access Products makes a specialized, high-value product — composite grating, covers, and access solutions aren't commodities, and buyers who need them are often searching specifically. Your website exists, but it's outdated in design, thin on content, and unlikely to rank for the search terms your industrial and municipal buyers are using.
We help manufacturers in this space modernize their digital presence, target the right keywords, and build a lead generation system that brings in qualified inquiries consistently.
I'd love to share what we'd focus on for CAP specifically. Would a 20-minute call work?

#19 | Owner / General Manager | ageindustries.com
Subject: AGE Industries / Anchor Bay — digital presence opportunity
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV-based digital marketing agency that works with manufacturers.
I noticed that AGE Industries has rebranded to Anchor Bay Packaging — which is actually a perfect moment to invest in a strong digital presence that reflects the new identity. Right now, the website is minimal and doesn't rank for corrugated or packaging searches in South Texas.
A rebrand is the single best time to build a web presence the right way — new brand, new site, new SEO foundation, positioned for the next decade of growth. We've helped RGV manufacturers do exactly this and the results compound quickly.
Would it make sense to connect for 20 minutes? I'd love to show you what we'd build for the new Anchor Bay brand.

Subject: Valley Packaging — packaging buyers search online
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency that works with manufacturers.
I came across Valley Packaging / Regio-Pak through STMA. Packaging is a category where buyers frequently source online — and right now, there's no standalone website for Valley Packaging that would show up in those searches.
We help RGV packaging manufacturers build a professional online presence that puts them in front of buyers who are actively searching for what they offer. It's a fast, focused investment that pays off in inbound inquiries.
Could we connect for 20 minutes this week? I'd love to learn more about your operation and show you what we'd build.

Subject: Citrofrut U.S. presence — a quick note
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency specializing in B2B manufacturers and food producers.
Citrofrut is a well-known brand in Mexico's citrus industry — but your U.S. web presence tells a different story. The site is Spanish-primary, thin on English-language content, and not optimized for the U.S. buyers, distributors, and foodservice operators who are researching citrus suppliers online.

For a company with Citrofrut's scale, the gap between your operational capabilities and your U.S. digital presence is significant. We help food manufacturers build the English-language SEO presence and content strategy that earns U.S. buyer trust and generates inbound inquiries.
Would it make sense to connect for 20 minutes? I'd love to show you what a U.S.-focused digital presence could look like for Citrofrut.

#22 | Owner / General Manager | shallowsport.com
Subject: Shallow Sport — your site is good, but here's what's missing
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV.
I'll be direct: Shallow Sport Boats has a cleaner website than most manufacturers we work with. But there are real gaps — no blog or content strategy, minimal local SEO, and no lead capture beyond a basic contact form. For a custom boat manufacturer with a niche product, content marketing is one of the most powerful tools available.
Anglers and boat buyers research obsessively online. Tutorials, fishing reports, boat comparisons, build stories — content that speaks to your customer ranks in search and builds a community that converts. You're leaving that opportunity entirely on the table.
We help niche manufacturers build content-driven growth engines. I'd love to show you specifically what that could look like for Shallow Sport. Would a 20-minute call work?

Subject: TX Plating — build your digital presence from day one
Hi,
Congratulations on joining STMA — I'm with Maker Web Studios, and we work with RGV manufacturers on digital presence and lead generation.
I noticed TX Plating & Polishing is a new member without a public website yet. The best time to build your digital foundation is before the bad habits set in — the right domain, the right structure, the right keyword targeting from day one. Starting clean means you start ranking sooner.
Plating and finishing is a specialty with real buyer demand in this region. We'd love to help TX Plating show up where those buyers are searching.
Would a short call this week make sense to discuss what we'd build?

Subject: Bright Finishing — let's get you found online
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency that works specifically with manufacturers.
I came across Bright Finishing as a new STMA member — congratulations. Finishing and surface treatment is in high demand in this region, especially with the nearshoring activity bringing more manufacturing to the border corridor. But without a website or online presence, the buyers who need your services can't find you.
We help manufacturers build a professional, search-optimized online presence quickly — so you start showing up for the buyers who are already looking. Given how early you are, we can build it exactly right from the start.

Subject: Palmer Steel — your website has good bones, here's what it's missing
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency that works specifically with manufacturers and industrial suppliers.
Palmer Steel has a functional website — but it's not doing the heavy lifting it should be. The SEO is thin, the content is stale, and there's no lead capture strategy that would convert the contractor, fabricator, and manufacturer buyers who are searching for steel supplies in the RGV.
Given Palmer's history and inventory depth, there's a real opportunity to dominate local search for steel supply keywords in South Texas. Your competitors aren't doing it particularly well either — which makes this a window worth moving on.

I'd love to share what a focused content and SEO strategy would look like for Palmer Steel. Would a 20-minute call work this week?

Subject: Valley Steel Recycling — scrap buyers search online too
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency working with manufacturers and industrial operators.
I came across Valley Steel Recycling through STMA. Scrap and metal recycling may feel like a word-of-mouth business, but increasingly, industrial sellers and commercial buyers search online for recycling operators — especially for large-volume or specialty material. Without a web presence, you're invisible to that traffic.
We help RGV manufacturers and industrial businesses build a digital footprint that attracts the right buyers and sellers. It's a quick, focused build for a business like yours.

Subject: Industrial Coils — a note on your web presence
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, a digital marketing agency in the RGV that works specifically with manufacturers.
Industrial Coils has a website, but it's bare-bones — no content marketing, no Google Business Profile, no lead generation funnel. For a specialty manufacturer serving OEMs and industrial buyers, that means your prospects are researching online and not finding the depth of information they need to shortlist you with confidence.
We help manufacturers like Industrial Coils build the content, SEO, and lead capture infrastructure that turns a placeholder website into a consistent source of qualified inquiries.
I'd love to show you what we'd prioritize for Industrial Coils. Would a 20-minute call work?

Subject: Maverick Electronics — digital presence opportunity
Hi,
I'm with Maker Web Studios, an RGV digital marketing agency that works with electronics and automotive manufacturers.
Maverick Electronics has a presence online, but it's thin — no case studies, no keyword strategy, no real content that would attract an OEM or tier supplier who's actively sourcing electronics assembly services. The website tells buyers you exist, but doesn't give them the depth of information they need to choose you.
Electronics manufacturing procurement is competitive and online-driven. The companies that invest in content, SEO, and lead infrastructure are winning the inbound inquiries before competitors even get a phone call.
I'd love to walk you through what we'd build for Maverick. Would a short call this week make sense?
